DESPITE OPPORTUNITY FOR $200 SALARY INCREASE, WILL REMAIN WITH M. P. CHURCH IN THIS CITY.

The congregation of the M. P. church has received an answer in the call recently extended the pastor, Rev. O. E. Ford, to return next year, the same having been accepted.

Rev. Ford hesitated some time before communicating his decision to the members of his church here, another offer having been made him with a salary increase of $200.

On account of his many friends here, together with the fact that he has been largely instrumental in bringing the local church to its present high plane, Rev. Ford decided to remain in this city.

"TINY" GINN

MAY BE ATHLETIC MENTOR AT MT. VERNON HIGH NEXT YEAR—PROMINENT AT O. S. U.

There is a well-defined rumor to the effect that "Tiny" Ginn, star athlete of O. S. U., will be the successor of Coach J. F. Jacks as instructor of the athletic teams of Mt. Vernon high school next year.

Ginn, it is understood, has not signed a contract as yet, but the terms offered him are said to be very favorable. He will, of course, instruct in academic work at the high school, if he comes to the high school.

Ginn is one of the best all-round athletes turned out by O. S. U. in recent years. His football prowess is well known, while his work on the basketball teams of O. S. U. for several years has attracted wide attention. He would be a worthy successor to Coach Jacks.

PACIFIC COAST BACKS WILSON

Republican Referendum Upholds All Vital Issues

REP. DILL MAKES CANVASS

Poll of 12,500 Votes in State of Washington Taken by Former Fredericktown Boy Shows Strong Administration Sentiment

Washington, D. C., June 29—Democratic congressmen regard as very significant a referendum taken by Congressman Dill, formerly of Fredericktown, Ohio, in the Spokane congressional district, state of Washington. The referendum was on the vital questions with which the administration is dealing. The president was sustained in every particular. The district is strongly Republican.

Thousands of Replies

"I sent a list of questions to every man and woman who voted in the Fifth congressional district of Washington in 1914, and I received literally thousands of replies," Mr. Dill said. "These replies came from every class of people in every part of the district, both city and country. The first question I asked was whether or not they favored increasing the appropriations from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 for preparedness. In reply I received a majority of 300 in favor of the big preparedness program."

"The total was 12,517. Those in favor were 6,412 and those opposed 6,105. And the striking thing about it was that in Spokane, a city of 140,000 people, my home town, the vote was nearly three to two in favor of this program, while in the country districts surrounding Spokane, in the outlying counties, it was nearly three to two against the program."

Overwhelming Republican

"Now I happen to live in a district that is normally overwhelmingly Republican, and I asked two questions, the results of which are interesting from a political standpoint. I asked whether or not they were in favor of supporting the president's policy as to Mexico, and as to the European war, and the answers show that by a vote of more than three to one they support the president's policy in Mexico, and as to the European war, and the answers show that by a vote of more than three to one they support the president's policy in Mexico, and by a vote of more than two to one they support him in his European policy."

How the Questions Were Put
Mr. Dill read the questions and the totals in reply as follows:

Do you favor increasing appropriations for the army and navy from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000? Yes, 6,412; No, 6,105.

Do you believe President Wilson's policy toward Mexico should be supported? Yes, 8,216; No, 2,633.

Do you believe President Wilson's policy in regard to the European war should be supported? Yes, 7,408; No, 8,671.

Do you favor compulsory military service? Yes, 4,560; No, 6,544.

Are you in favor of federalizing the national guard? Yes, 7,848; No, 3,179.

Do you favor an embargo on the shipment of war munitions and other contraband of war, including foodstuffs? Yes, 5,141; No, 7,167.

Do you favor a tariff board? Yes, 9,296; No, 3,075.

Are you in favor of the government ship purchase bill for the purpose of building up our merchant marine? Yes, 8,396; No, 2,577.

Do you favor withdrawal from the Philippines? Yes, 6,572; No, 4,342.

MAYOR BIGBEE

THINKS STOLEN HORN MAY BE IN MT. VERNON

There were three loiterers and four charged with having destroyed property in the "district" last night. Their cases are held over until this afternoon, after Mayor Bigbee returns from Mt. BARRE

WILL PROBABLY TAKE OVER LOCAL BASEBALL CLUB

Possession Will Be Given July 8—Exceptionally Strong Team Is Promised—Big Tournament With National Stars

With the exception of a few minor details, a deal has been completed whereby Dale E. Barre will take over the Mt. Vernon base ball club from its present owner, Joseph Ferguson. Mr. Barre expects to assume charge on Sunday, July 8.

Only a few of the present members of the team will be retained by Mr. Barre who intends to place in the lineup several of the men he has used on his team which has been plying out-of-town Sunday ball this season. The remainder of the players will probably be imported.

Mr. Barre is planning for a big base ball tournament to be held here at the end of the season in which teams from Mansfield, Newark, Mt. Vernon and Knox county will compete. The latter nine will be organized from players outside of Mt. Vernon.

As a special feature of this tournament, Mr. Barre hopes to secure the services of "Ty" Cobb and Tris Speaker, in case these two stars are not playing post-season ball. The tournament will occupy two days and promises, if put through, to attract much attention.

High class base ball each Sunday will be the watchword of Mr. Barre in case he takes over the club. He promises that all games will be clean; that the Mt. Vernon club will be one of the strongest the city has known in years and that only the best nines will be booked in for games.

ARDNER

Calis on Old Interstate League Campions in Mansfield and Has a Delightful Chinning Match

Joe Ardner, a baseball player who was famous in the old days when Mansfield belonged to the Interstate league, dropped into the city yesterday and called on his old friends. In his time, Ardner was one of the greatest players in the game and the older Mansfield fans will remember when he was the star second sacker of the Interstate league.

During his stay in the city he had an interesting fanning been with Carl McVey, Pete Sommers and Milt West, all of whom were playing when he was in his prime.

Ardner is now employed as boss stage carpenter at the Empire theatre in Cleveland. He quit the diamond game many years ago but still takes great interest in the game. His visit here was an interesting one in view of the fact that he met three old comrades of the diamond and had an opportunity of talking over the old days.—Mansfield Shield.

Ardner played ball on town lots in Mt. Vernon in his early days. He came here last summer with a Cleveland nine—his first visit to this city in years.

EIGHTH

Regiment Passes Through Here Enroute to Columbus—Mexicans Attacked in Slogans

Two sections of a troop passed through this city over the Pennsylvania lines enroute from the north of the state to Columbus. They carried the Eighth Regiment to the mobilization camp at Columbus. Both sections were composed of five box cars and eight passenger coaches. The trains were profusely decorated with flags and bunting and were filled with shouting, laughing soldier boys. The slogan, "On to Mexico, Kill the Greasers," was chalked in large letters on one of the coaches of the second division.

We have to pay for our experience, but many a man buys it who can't afford the price.

PATRIOTIC BACKGROUND

At Chamber Of Commerce When Enlisting Starts

DRUM CORPS ON THE JOB

With Lifting Melodies of War Time—Enlistments Come Slowly After More Enthusiastic Sign—Copy of Agreement and Late News "From the Front"

With the drum corps of Joe Hooker Post, G. A. R., playing old-time marching melodies, with the American flag in full display and with war talk commanding all conversation, the chamber of commerce headquarters on West High street drew like a magnet Wednesday night.

Either chatting away inside of the possibilities in the formation of a company of volunteer infantry from this county or gazing on the outside at the window full of military curios and relics, the crowd seemed agreed on one thing—that a company should be organized in this county.

Secretary Leopold of the chamber of commerce, who is receiving all enlistments for the proposed company, was kept busy giving information, explaining the exact war status of such a company, if organized, and a thousand and one other things. In his charge was the special document, to which prospective members of the company attached their signatures. They subscribed as follows:

We, the undersigned, do hereby solemnly pledge ourselves as members of the Knox County Company of Ohio Volunteer Infantry, subject to the call and orders of the Ohio State or the United States department of war.

The document was headed: Roster—Knox County Company of Ohio Volunteer Infantry. No oath is required, the signers are not bound for any set period of service, the whole merely representing an agreement to offer themselves if such is necessary.

Enlistments came slowly after the more enthusiastic had signed up. There were those in the crowd who were willing to sign in case they would hold offices and not be mere privates. There were also those who waited for the "next fellow" to affix his signature.

The efforts will be continued until as large an enlistment has been effected as possible. Hopes are that this will reach 75 in number.

CHILDREN'S TEMPERATURE.

What to Do When Your Precious Has Symptoms of Illness.

Children have a great habit of running into a high fever upon the slightest provocation, and while it is advisable for every mother to possess and to understand the use of a clinical thermometer, yet, on the other hand, the tale that is told by said instrument is likely to give the nervous parent many a quail until she begins to realize that while a child's temperature mounts rapidly it also goes down quite as suddenly when the trouble, whatever it is, is under control.

On the other hand, when a child seems restless and peevish and heavy it is a great comfort to know by what is recorded by the thermometer whether there is something really the matter.

When the little thermometer registers between 99 and 100 degrees the patient needs watching, a good purgative being the first remedy in about every childish distemper. But if the mercury mounts over 100 degrees communicate with your doctor, and if it goes over 101 degrees have him pay a call at once.

Little children are singularly unable to tell their symptoms. They just know they feel "bad" without any clearly defined pain. Even a good sized child may have a high fever and an inflamed throat without appearing to feel anything but inertia; therefore the wise mother always examines the throat, including tonsils and tongue, and ascertains if there are signs of irritation. With this settled and the discovery of fever she is armed with answers to the first questions a physician will ask.

INJURIES MINOR IN 25-FOOT FALL FROM STEEL TANK

Drop Onto Pile Of Lumber Unusual Escape From Death For C. C. Cox—Brinkhaven Accident Victim At Local Hospital

Brinkhaven, O., June 29—Falling from the top of a steel tank onto a pile of lumber thirty feet below, C. C. Cox yesterday afternoon had what is regarded as a miraculous escape from death. The accident occurred at 3:30 o'clock and Cox was sent to Mt. Vernon on the afternoon train where he was placed in the Mt. Vernon hospital.

The only injuries which a hasty examination revealed were fractures of the left leg at the ankle joint and of the right arm at the wrist joint. Considerable fear was expressed that he was injured internally. There was a large gash on his face and a number of body bruises.

Cox is an employee of the Demaris Steel Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was sent here to assist in the installation of a large steel tank which the Pennsylvania Co. is having erected near its tracks here. With other workmen, he was standing on a ladder which was placed at the top of a scaffold when he slipped and fell. His horrified companions expected that he would be lifeless when picked up.

Cox lay unconscious on a pile of lumber when aid reached him and he remained in this state for some considerable time.

The injured man passed a rather restless night Wednesday at the Mt. Vernon hospital expelling quantities of blood, but his condition Thursday was looked upon as very favorable for recovery.

There have been no further developments along the line of internal injuries and the attending physician stated Thursday that he was of the opinion that there is nothing more serious about Cox's condition than the fractured leg and arm.

Cox was unable to state how the accident occurred, everything being a blank in his mind. He suffers considerable pain, but is as cheerful as could be expected. He is 22 years of age, unmarried and resides in Delaware.
